“Words Can Hurt.”

Title: Words Can Hurt.
Theme: Racism & Bullying
Setting: School (corridor/courtyard)

Student ID	Name	Role
J24043213	Aiedel Farrhan	Video Editor
J24043297	Goh Zhi Yang	Scriptwriter
J260457942	Nadzreen	Director
J25045600	Yeo Shern	Poster
J24043267	Jun Sheng	Camera
J24043238	Aaron Lau	Synopsis

Character / Role	Name
Narrator	Yeo Shern
Victim	Nadzreen
Bully 1	Goh Zhi Yang
Bully 2	Aiedel Farrhan
Friend / Bystander	Aaron Lau
Teacher / Counselor	Jun Sheng

LINK: YouTube

Synopsis

This short film tells a story about racism and bullying in a school setting and how words can hurt more than people realise. The story focuses on a student who is bullied because of their skin colour and the way they speak. What starts as “just a joke” quickly becomes painful and makes the victim feel uncomfortable, lonely, and afraid to come to school.

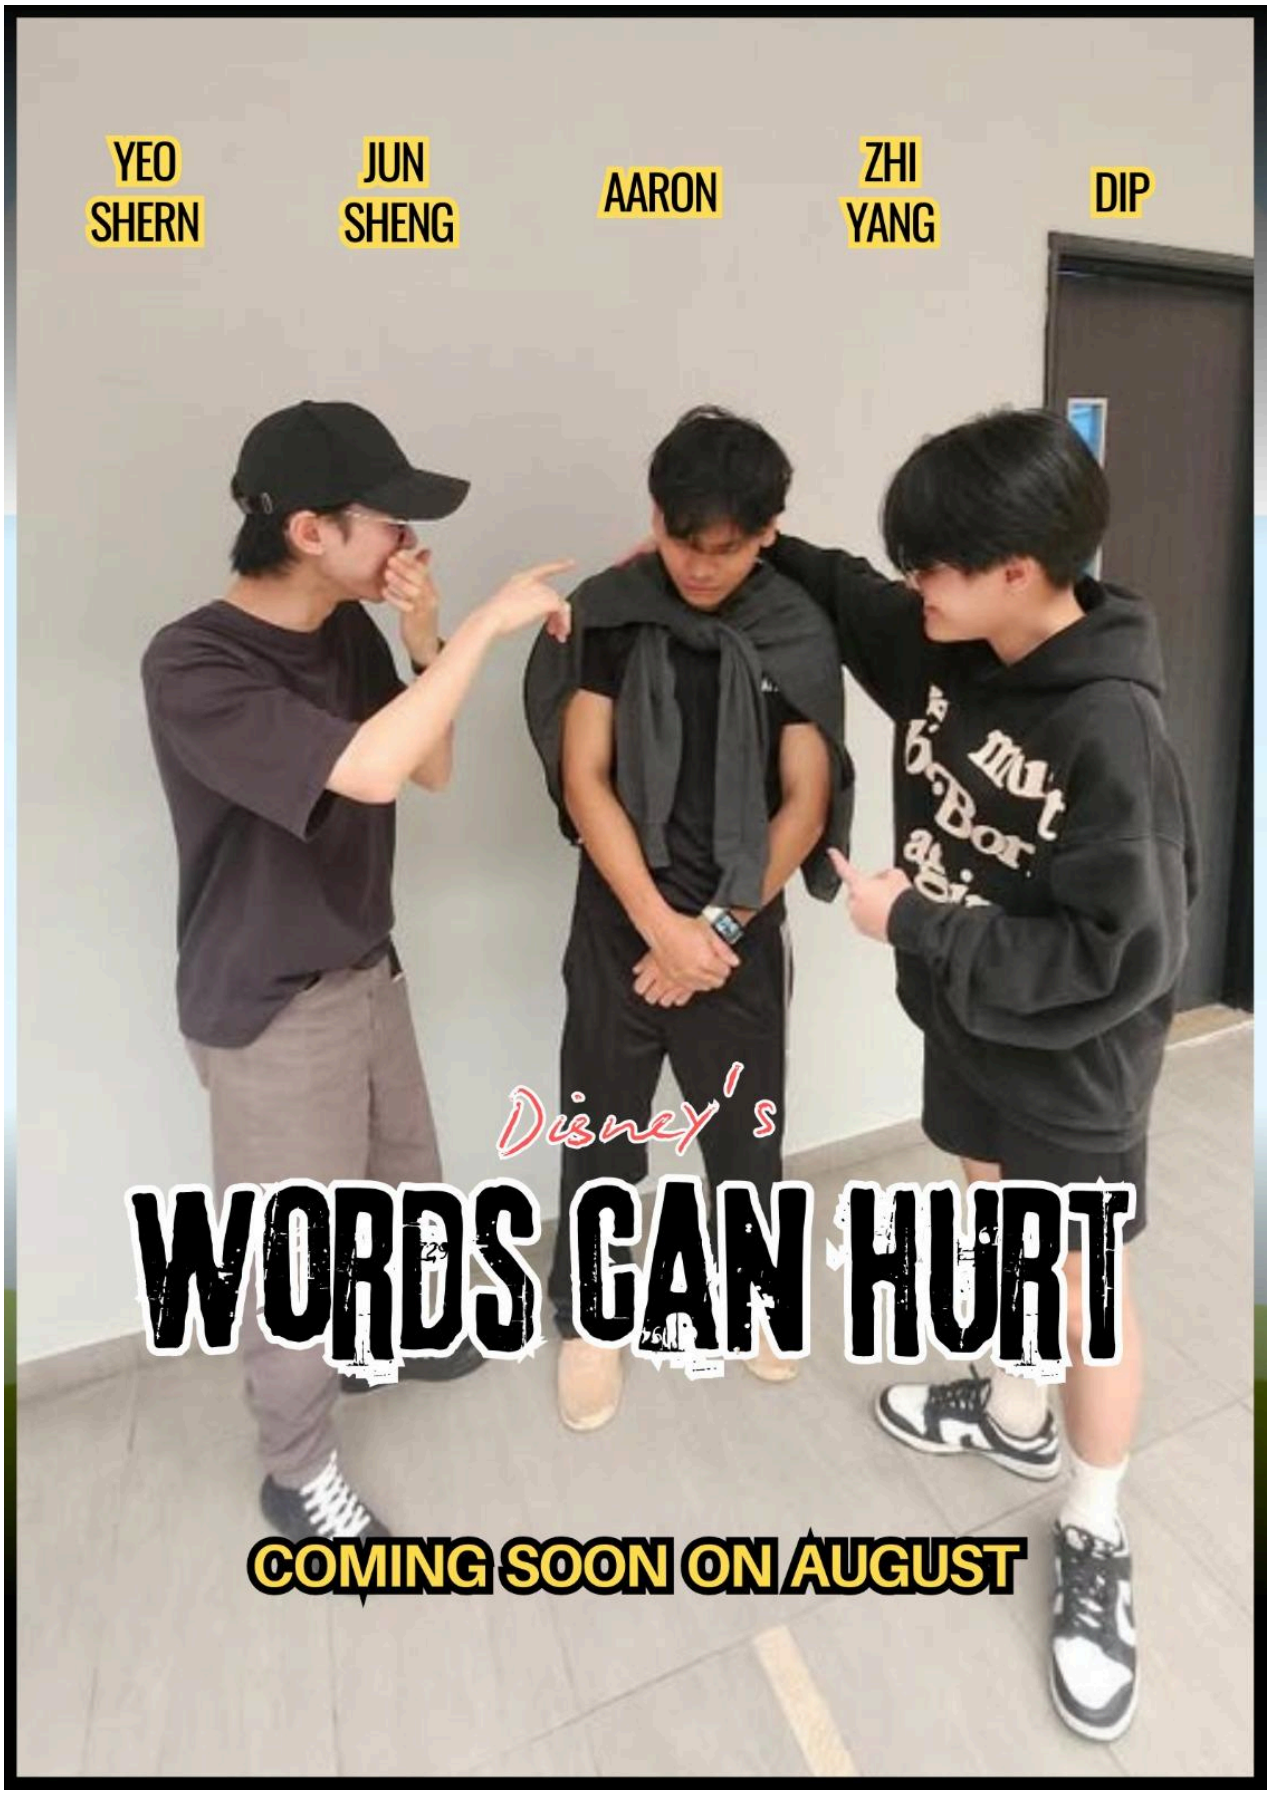
The bullying does not only happen once. It happens in small moments during the school day, such as in the hallway and in class. Other students see what is happening but do not know what to do. One friend notices that the victim is deeply hurt but hesitates to step in, believing that it might just be harmless joking. This shows how bullying can continue when people choose to stay silent.

As the bullying continues, the victim begins to feel invisible and feels like they do not belong anywhere. The emotional pain becomes stronger than any physical injury. Eventually, the friend finds the courage to speak up and tells the bullies to stop, explaining that their words are not funny and are causing real harm.

A teacher arrives and listens to the victim’s story. The teacher makes it clear that racism and bullying are not allowed and that such behaviour has serious consequences. The bullies are asked to reflect on their actions and apologise for the pain they caused.

The film ends with a clear message that everyone deserves respect, safety, and kindness. It reminds viewers that racism and bullying can be prevented when people speak up, support one another, and choose to treat others with understanding and respect.

Poster & Reference



Script

SCENE 1: SCHOOL CORRIDOR (1.5 minutes)

Narrator:
School is meant to be a safe place—a place to learn, to grow, and to dream. But for some students, school becomes a place of fear.

(Victim walks slowly, holding books tightly)

Victim (quietly):
I don’t like coming to school anymore. Every day, I feel scared. They laugh at my skin colour… at the way I speak… at who I am.

(Bully 1 and Bully 2 enter, whispering and laughing)

SCENE 2: BULLYING BEGINS (2 minutes)

Bully 1 (mocking):
Eh, why do you talk like that? Can’t you speak properly?

Bully 2 (laughing loudly):
Yeah! You sound so weird. Go back to where you came from!

(They laugh. Victim looks down)

Victim (soft voice):
I didn’t choose how I look. I didn’t choose how I speak. Why are you doing this to me?

Bully 1:
Relax lah. We’re just joking.

Bully 2:
Yeah, don’t be so sensitive.

(Friend watches from the side, unsure)

SCENE 3: INNER CONFLICT (1.5 minutes)

Friend (hesitant):
Maybe… maybe it’s just a joke? But… you look really hurt.

Narrator:
Sometimes, people stay silent. Not because they agree— but because they are afraid.

Victim (voice breaking):

Every laugh feels like a knife. Every word stays in my head. I feel invisible. I feel like I don’t belong anywhere.

(Pause for emotion)

SCENE 4: FRIEND SPEAKS UP (1.5 minutes)

Friend (steps forward, firm):
Stop it. This isn’t funny.

Bully 1:
What’s your problem now?

Friend:
You’re hurting someone. Racism and bullying are not jokes.

Bully 2:
We didn’t mean it like that.

Friend:
But that’s how it feels to them. Words can hurt more than fists.

(Bullies look uncomfortable)

SCENE 5: TEACHER INTERVENES (1.5 minutes)

(Teacher enters)

Teacher:
What’s going on here?

Victim (shaking voice):
They keep making fun of me… because of who I am.

Teacher:
Thank you for speaking up. Bullying and racism are not tolerated in this school.

Narrator:
Speaking up takes courage. Silence allows bullying to continue.

SCENE 6: REALISATION & APOLOGY (1.5 minutes)

Teacher (to bullies):
Your words have consequences. You must understand the pain you caused. Apologise.

Bully 2 (sincerely):
I’m sorry. I didn’t realise how much it hurt you.

Bully 1:
I’m sorry too. We were wrong.

Victim (calm but emotional):
Thank you… I just want to be treated with respect.

SCENE 7: CLOSING MESSAGE (1 minute)

Narrator:
Everyone deserves safety. Everyone deserves respect. Everyone deserves kindness.

(All characters step forward)

All Together:
Say no to racism. Say no to bullying.

Narrator (final):
Racism and bullying can be prevented by respecting others, speaking up, and choosing kindness. When we stand together, we create a safer and more accepting world for everyone.